America In Peril

Editor's note: What you are about to read is a transcription of a video-tape called AMERICA IN PERIL which was sent to the offices of CONTACT several months ago. Our original copy was mysteriously damaged and, therefore, not audible for transcription. After the passage of some time, a kind CONTACT reader in the San Francisco Bay area asked if we had this tape and promptly sent us a copy when hearing our plight. The tape is of a man lecturing to an empty, secured room and is identified only as "Mark from Michigan". This lecture took place sometime in 1993. It will serve as excellent confirmation to our regular readers, and may even seem old-hat to some. Mark speaks of martial law, the use of concentration camps, rallying patriots, the use of gang members in cooperation with police departments for house-to-house searches with booty thrown in for their efforts, and many other alarming New World Order tactics. Sit back now, lock the doors, and prepare to get mad. Our only information about this tape is what is marked on the video cassette itself: Red World Productions, 7092 Highland Road, #174, Waterford, MI 48327 for $29.95 + $3 s/h.

- R.M.

Mark from Michigan:

We will be covering everything we can concerning the New World Order operations inside the United States. We will be discussing the MJTF (Multi-Jurisdictional Task Force) Police, FINCEN United Nations combat forces inside the United States, and the conversion of the United States as an asset for the United Nations.

To begin with I originally worked as an Intelligence Analyst in 1975 through 1981 first with USEC Company D of USEC Fort Huachuca, Arizona. From there I moved on to 5th US Army Intelligence Center where I worked both as an Intelligence Analyst and as a Counter Intelligence Coordinator. Later through the 80's up until present time I command two, both second and third, outdoor brigades which are special warfare units that train US military forces in foreign warfare and tactics.

We are going to start with the MJTF Police and where it came from, what its original mission was, and what its mission is now. Through a series of political actions that started around approximately March of 1989, the Federal Government extorted resources from most of the states, sometimes all 50 states simultaneously over a two week period, passing laws in every state authorizing the use of Federal Funding to convert local and state forces into national police forces. The MJTF Task Force is in virtually every state of the union of the United States at this time. Its primary mission is house-to-house search and seizure, separation and categorization of men, women, and children in large numbers to transfer to detention facilities and the use of those facilities for interrogation purposes. The MJTF are regular National Guard, local law enforcement, and street gangs converted to National Police Services. Remember this was originally organized under George Herbert Walker Bush. We all know, of course, that President Clinton has purposed a National Police Force. This is simply another name, in fact an over-name for the MJTF Police. Now the model for the MJTF Police is that they are the velvet glove on the iron fist. Anybody who is familiar with some of the speeches that have taken place, ex-President Reagan spoke in England by phone approximately two months ago and commented that the United Nations Forces would be the velvet glove on the steel fist. This is a very popular phrase. It has been used extensively by these people who are within the New World Order operation. I don't know how you feel about this but anytime I've been hit with an iron fist, I usually don't feel too good and a velvet glove doesn't make much difference. It should be noted that most of the resources are being drawn from again, Federal Funding to our regional governments.

The State of Michigan converted part of their forces over on February 11 of 1989 when Senator Carl Levin, the State Adjutant General of the states of Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana met in Lansing and at 6:35 in the evening an agreement was struck in which elements of the Michigan National Guard would be deployed in Indiana and Ohio in the event of—in fact it was stated that when firearms are confiscated in the Midwest, that these forces would be deployed both in Indiana and Ohio. Indiana and Ohio would then provide 50% of their Guard forces to police the Michigan area, under the MJTF guidelines. Approximately 3 months after the arrangement was made through the Department of Defense (DOD) in conjunction with other agencies, some of them unknown at this time, the State of Indiana backed out of the agreement. When this took place the Federal Government through a series of funding coordinations withdrew resources from the State of Indiana. They had to restructure part of their Guard mechanism and in the process were able to maintain a good portion of their original integrity concerning their preparedness strength for Guard forces. Three battalions had to be restructured at that time.

Now the MJTF Police are supplied and supported through strategic reserve aircraft that have been transferred to their resource. They will convert almost all of the existing local police agencies to National Police forces after they have riffed personnel they do not consider trustworthy and they will also incorporate street gangs.

Now if anybody has seen the guidelines, and we have copies of both, the original stated that house-to-house search and seizures would be performed by military, law enforcement, and civilian personnel. Now we all know who the military are. That is anybody in a green uniform or a blue uniform with the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard. We understand that those will be people in the National Guard Reserve and our active military forces. We know who law enforcement is. These are the constables, individuals that you have at your local level all the way up to and including our secret police in the United States such as the FBI, Central Intelligence Agency, and other agencies that might be at their disposal—Defense Intelligence Agency, etc. Who are the civilians that are going to come into your home? I don't recall there being any guidelines for that in the Constitution. If anybody has listened to National Public Radio you will note that on several different occasions, specifically the 10th month of 1992 it was announced, in fact, it was a one hour special program, on National Public Radio about converting the street gangs to law enforcement agencies. We have been talking about this for years prior to its action. We knew that there were preparatory activities taking place, but through these activities a truce was signed by most of the large gangs in the city of Los Angeles. At the time there were negotiations in process in Chicago and this was also taking place in New York. Since the initial action, a full agreement has been signed in Los Angeles and both the Crips and the Bloods are now being trained, equipped, and uniformed with Federal Funding through California. Chicago has finalized this agreement last week. New York is in the process of doing so sometime in the next few weeks and we can assume that they will do this very quickly. These forces will be the cannon fodder. Their mission is to be the forefront for the master forces to come through the door. Remember that the average Federal Agent makes anywhere from $47,000 to $57,000 a year. He is more or less looking at his pension. He is not concerned with risking his life, especially if he can find someone to throw in front of him as a sandbag. That is the mission of these group forces that are being organized.

Since last I spoke, probably the best example I'm sure that everybody listening here has heard about is Waco, Texas. These forces that were on the ground, to give you the best example, were not effective fighting forces. When you retreat and leave wounded and dead lying on the ground, that is called a rout. That's not a retreat and this is symptomatic of professional forces that are there for the money. On the other hand, if you use the old medieval pillage principle and you have a profit mechanism set up in which you are allowed to confiscate properties, cars, jewelry, furniture, the neighbor's wife, whatever, then you are highly motivated to go through that door, and especially if you have been doing it illegally for an extensive period of time and all of a sudden you are given the opportunity to be legitimized. Remember, why let the street gang situation foster or flourish the way it did? We had more than the capability to restrict the street gangs at the time when they came about and most assuredly we had the capacity to restrict them in any way that we wished to. However, by allowing the street gangs to flourish, you create regimentation. Then, the strong come to the top. These are your NCOs and leaders and when you are finished, you simply put them in uniform and you have an organized military force at your disposal. They are thugs but they are expendable thugs! Remember that.

Now, MJTF police operations are, there are several actions that have taken place within the last two years starting in 1991, they participated or were part of operation "Achilles", which was a sweep from the southern Ohio Valley up through to Michigan of ATF (Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms) and MJTF forces to harass and eliminate FFL holders who were manufacturers and producers of components and arms. Their primary concern was not to confiscate or to charge somebody with illegal arms but rather to acquire records and resources that were available and in the hands of the people who held the FFL. In every case where they went into these businesses the only thing that they took were the records of who purchased products and where they lived. Very important to understand. There are a series of other activities that took place after this. MJTF was deployed in Los Angeles during the LA riots, though there was only a slight mention of it, that's the authority they were under along with FINCEN. All of these agencies are overlapping and under the general authority of the United Nations. Remember, we are now an International Organization, not the United States. We are a small corporate part of a big company, a larger company.

In 1992 through early 1993 reorganization was taking place to try to give the MJTF greater credibility. However, it was understood that the mercenary forces probably will not function as originally anticipated so the Guard has been restructured. That, for many people who are familiar with the way the Guard operates, will be able to understand why the Guard is being riffed of experienced personnel. Desert Dust, or in other words what we call Desert Storm, its primary mission (it was threefold), but its primary mission was to see whether or not the American people would eat the New World Order... U.S. soldiers were sent overseas, American flags were taken off their uniforms, flags were taken down by officers in the field, the flag was not to be flown. Most every other nationality was allowed to fly their flag and other than for publicity purposes for public consumption, the general position was that the flag was to be trodden at every opportunity. However, if any of you were watching the news you will notice a lot of Marines were jumping up and showing their patch, which they just pulled out of their pocket, and laying it on their arm and going "see this, this is what I'm fighting for". These people have to be done away with. You can't have these people in the military and so, they decided they would have to riff these people out, transfer them to Guard. If they are already in Guard units, restructure, reestablish guidelines that would allow them to extract these people from the mechanism. They are trying to go to the next generation of educated idiots. They are looking for people who are going to be more pliable, as Mr. Rockefeller said many years ago, clay that could be molded more efficiently. And since the first or latest crop didn't work, we are now going to restructure the entire mechanism and see what we can get from the next batch. This is where we are going with this.

Now it should be noted that before they can perform any of the actions that are pending, they are going to have to take the weapons that we have inside the United States. I will say again that the meeting that took place in 1989, the Federal Government and the representatives that were there stated unconditionally WHEN we take the weapons, not IF we take the weapons but WHEN! Under that premise everything else was constructed.

Now, there is one that I like here and I'm going to have it put up on the board as we are speaking. A little poster everyone should remember. All those in favor of gun control raise your right hand. There is an interesting piece that just came out that I was most fascinated with in regards to firearms laws. It is a book concerning the gun control act of 1968, in which it has been demonstrated that the gun control act of 1968 was simply an American creation. It was taken from Nazi Germany's gun control laws of 1938, word for word. Now that's very important when you consider this. We are not talking a few paragraphs here and there. The entire document is taken from Nazi Germany's gun control laws of 1938. If they are already at that level in 1968, then where are you going to go with our gun laws now. If you have listened to the people who are talking about this they say that the Brady Bill, for instance, (I'm hoping that everybody understands what that is. That is one of the pending firearms legislations, that's at the Senate and House level right now). It is a good first step. Follow through on this. I don't think anybody likes that idea. If that's a first step then where are we headed?

It should be understood that the MJTF Police is not trusted by the Federal agencies and eventually will be done away with. Again, the MJTF are useful cannon fodder that eventually will be swept to the side.

Moving on beyond the MJTF Police. We are going to back up into them a little bit—there are FINCEN Forces. FINCEN are Financial Crimes Enforcement Network personnel. FINCEN has as much to do with finances as the SAS had to do with airplanes. The SAS (Special Air Service) was a cover name for an entity which existed in England and was the equivalent to the OSS of World War II 1941 through 1945. FINCEN Forces: their mission is house-to-house search and seizure, separation and categorization of men, women, and children, transfer to detention facilities, securing properties acquired, but not the maintaining of detention camps. That will be the mission of the MJTF Police.

I should mention very quickly the detention camps themselves. Originally under FEMA, 23 detention camps were authorized. These detention camps were spread out across the United States. In addition to that, there are 20 supplemental camps that were authorized with 1990-1991 Military Fiscal Budget. Carl Levin's DOD Budget Amendment 656 authorized the implementation of these 20 camps to supplement the 23 that were already authorized. There are now 43 total camps that are pre-deployed inside the continental United States. In addition to that there are supplemental camps or auxiliary camps through each state and each region, an example of this would be the Nike-Hercules site located near Monroe, Michigan. That is a pre-designated detention facility. The 3 sites that are located in Michigan: (1) Located due north of Pickney, Michigan, due west of Brighton. (2) Earmarked near Lansing, Michigan to be north-northeast. (3) Fort Custer Military Reservation which has been upgraded from a D facility to a B facility. This is very important because a D facility is State authorized and State controlled. A B facility, on the other hand, has been upgraded to Federal status and is comparable to any of our prime military facilities such as Ft. Benning, Georgia, Wright Patterson AFB, any facility that we are presently using for active military forces. However, if you get a chance to tour the highways and byways and back roads of Fort Custer you will find that there is a new urban warfare center there. The new urban warfare center doesn't look like Bad Hersfeld [base], Germany. It looks like downtown Monroe. It looks like downtown Saline. It has 3 bedroom ranch style houses, crackerbox farm houses, small living areas inside downtown areas. At this particular site MJTF Police forces were training from the first week of January of 1989 on. They were training every second and third week of the month from Monday through Thursday. They were paying with non-DOD funds, in other words, these were GSA funds other than regular military budget allocations. It is important to understand how they pay because that's how you can find out who it is that's playing.

These forces operated secretly for a number of months and we identified them as they were training and they changed facilities. We understand after approximately 1 1/2 year cooling time they are using Custer and they are using Grayling again, extensively bringing forces together from other parts of the state, training them on site and sending them back out to be prepared for whatever is going to happen in the future.

We'll get back to FINCEN now. FINCEN was organized utilizing four military forces as secret police forces here in the United States. They are drawn from military and secret police forces overseas. They are predominantly European. We have Belgian, Dutch, German. We are looking at French. We also have a variety of Asian military personnel. It is known at this time, for instance, that FINCEN has an element in Montana that is made up of Gurkhas (warlike Hindus from Nepal). The 197th Mechanized as of one week ago has deployed for a training operation that may last as long as two months in northern Montana through to the Canadian frontier. It is the 197th Mechanized Infantry combined with 2 brigades of British Mechanized Infantry, the First Canadian Armored Division, Gurkha Mercenary Forces, 1

Belgian brigade, 1 EEC Mixed Security brigade and an undetermined number of other forces all foreign. They originally were scheduled to work for approximately 3 weeks in the area but if this is similar to the last mobilization that took place, you will find that they will be there for up to 2 1/2 to 3 months. During the LA crisis that took place there were a series of actions that took place both in Montana and we also saw activities in California, and there were activities in northern Texas in the panhandle. FINCEN forces are ruthless. For example, the Gurkhas are professional mercenary forces from Nepal. They rotate these forces for a period of time out of Nepal and were originally hired by the British military force for a number of years. Now that they are under UN authority of course, they have to find a use for them and they have. Remember the Gurkhas were being paid by the British and probably still are to be used against us. Kind of like the Hessians of 1775, isn't it? I think you will find a lot of other forces with similar perspective there.

There are, and I will use the regional map here, there are a number of forces spread throughout the 10 regions. For those of you who are not familiar with regionalism: Regionalism is a form of government that we are about to experience if the New World Order people have their way. Under regionalism, Michigan becomes not Michigan but area 5. As area 5 our capitol will be in Chicago. Under the New States Constitution this particular type of government comes into power and we are going to find that all of a sudden we are going to be part of this warm fuzzy New World Order real quick. Unfortunately, we never vote for a Governor again. The Governor will be directly assigned by the President, kind of like in Star Wars. If you remember, that was rather entertaining, Grandma Tarking goes, "The Emperor has just done away with the Senate". And, of course, one of the Admirals goes, "How will he manage without the bureaucracy?" And the Grandma turns and goes, and decides to go, "Well, our Regional Governor shall deal with the problem. Terror shall reign". And most assuredly, terror shall reign! The Regional Governor will not have the same authority over his military forces but he most assuredly will have full authority over his security forces. Unlike the Governors of old he will not have a pocket army, he will simply have police. The centralized military force will be completely under the authority of the United Nations.

Now, how did we get here? Well, that's an interesting story when you think about it because there are a lot of problems that are involved. It's an ongoing escalation of resources pitted against the American people and the Republic. We are a Constitutional Republic, by the way. We are not a democracy. I think that everybody had better remember that right now. This is a problem you run into even with Republican Presidents. How many times did you hear George Bush say "this democracy". This is a man who calls himself a Republican. I'm not necessarily a Democrat or a Republican. I'm one of those independent American kind of guys.

Here's an example of FINCEN and some of the effects that overlap into United Nations operations. This was on the cover of Airman magazine which is the US Air Force publication, July 1992. It should be very evident that the forces that are displayed here on the cover are very impressive. Unfortunately, of the 5 aircraft on the cover only one of them is American. The rest are all Soviet bombers or Soviet heavy-lift aircraft. It should be noted that these types of assets have been reported on by a lot of people in the military who people didn't want to listen to or believe. These are documents that more than verify the validity of comments that were made in the past. The forces involved that we are going to see in FINCEN will be very well educated. They are professional military forces. They are for all practical purposes mercenaries of course. You are going to find that they normally serve an 8-year tour unlike the old American mechanism which was a 6-year tour mixed time of active and reserve component with IRR, (independent ready reserve) options. Instead we have now gone to an 8-year mechanism, the same as all foreign professional forces overseas, very characteristic of the same mechanism that the British used against us in 1775. Conscription through pressing was normally done with an 8-year tour.

There are a variety of different mechanisms. This one was done by a friend of ours which I'd like to also include. I think it is very interesting, it's a whirlpool, actually a black hole. And most assuredly we are spinning into a black hole if we allow this to exist. It should be noted that these people are chipping on despite the types of pitfalls we've thrown in front of them. We will slow them down but we probably will not stop them completely and this will become an armed confrontation. I cannot believe that the American people are going to continue to participate in something like this, not without realizing that somebody is selling the cookie jar. They aren't just grabbing the cookies. Otherwise, what we are looking at right now is an action which is quite sophisticated and has taken probably 50 years to develop, and the enemy has almost reached that point where he can touch the golden ring. Imagine, if you will, going around on a merry-go-round and almost having your hand on it. All of their different schemes, plotting and conniving have come to a nexus, a point in time in which they have the opportunity to grab everything. To do this they must act quickly. They have windows of opportunity. They are very dangerous at this particular point because there is an old story, "the swift stroke oft misses". That's the problem with this. If we are lucky we can get them to move quickly. If they move too quickly they will show too much, and the American people are not complete dummies and there are enough of us, there are enough patriots out there that are interested in seeing the Constitution and the Bill of Rights survive that they will participate in the defense of the nation.

There are a lot of military forces that are being sent overseas. Does anybody wonder why in this time of peace we are sending more and more of our military strength to Bosnia-Herzegovina, Somalia, Thailand? And has anybody heard about our forces in Peru? I imagine not. Well, I'll give you a good example. We have 20,000 to 21,000 personnel right now sitting off Yugoslavia's coast or in Yugoslavia at this time. We have approximately 20,000 mixed personnel functioning in Somalia. That's 40,000 combat personnel. In addition to that we have 22,000 to 23,000 in Cambodia. Now we've got 60,000 people overseas and most of them are combat troops. Lets go one step further back during Desert Dust, one of those little actions that was missed by everybody is that during the executive orders that were signed, 18,000 US military personnel were sent to Peru for policing operations there under UN authority. Now this is documented. We've got people who are down there right now. There are families and there are Mothers who are highly concerned about the people that are in place. They have lost people there. People have been killed. This receives no publicity and yet it is going on. It is a prime example of "Watch my right hand". "Hey, you didn't see what was going on over here, did you?" That's what we have to worry about.

These people control the media completely. What I do a lot of times, and I recommend you do the same thing, is video tape what is going on television but ignore what they say. Pay attention to the photographs. If they are really concerned with something they won't feed you much, but in many cases they feel the general population is not observant and there is more in a picture than in all the gobblygoopen words that they have fabricated. You have to ask yourself when you look at pieces of equipment and activities, why is this taking place? Where is this taking place? Is this actually what is going on? If you look at the expressions of the individuals, the activities, the attitudes, you know that something doesn't taste right. A lot of military people coming back are tickled pink to leave Somalia as fast as they can throw their feet on a 747 or 737 air bus. There is a reason for that. It is an untenable situation but it is typical of the type that the United Nations has put us into. Of course, by the way, we are paying the bill too. This is not good.

It should be noted that a lot of personnel who are overseas, and we have personal contacts that are experiencing this right now, are having difficulties bringing family members back or sending family members back from Europe to the United States. We have three families in particular that are experiencing this right now. They are attempting to send their wives and children out of Europe back into the continental United States and the military will not do it, will not send them. They have not released the dependents, let alone their own husband. This is interesting considering we are not at war and we have no threat of war on the horizon that anybody could pick out short of a few policing actions that are supposed to be fairly minor. I will inject this though, it used to be we called it the Balkans not Yugoslavia and there were a handful of wars there over a period of 50 years and many of your antecedents left Europe because of that. After having three or four of them in a row and losing probably one half or a third of the family, most of the Europeans decided it was time to what we call "un-ask" the AO, excuse me. That was the objective. Now we are calling it Yugoslavia. Right next door are the Moslems. The Moslems are not exactly friendly people to deal with. Given the opportunity and good weapons, they are darn good fighters. Anybody that was in the Korean war knows about the Turks. Those are the people to the east. If they align with the other Moslems, we may have a very interesting experience on our hands. Who will we side with? Well, we'll side with the UN and they'll side with whoever it is that is against the United States. Very simple.

One of the things that I like to incorporate: Good old Fred Rexer, a man to remember and a man to admire: "Be prepared, its later than you think. If you don't think so take a look around you". The amount of force facing the American people right now is approximately the equivalent to several heavy infantry divisions with a couple of mixed mechanized divisions combined. We are looking at a little over 300,000 personnel that we can verify or that we can at least identify in different parts of the country. These forces include FINCEN elements through Montana, northern California, southern California, central Texas, the northern part of North Carolina, Ft. Drum, the Eastern Seaboard including elements that are now stationed around the capitol of the United States, Washington D.C.. There are 5 FINCEN companies deployed there.

I will mention this, we have put a great deal of heat on these people since we have begun to identify them. And I will ask you something, how many people have seen a newsclip every night when they watch the media. Somebody takes one of those nice ski masks and puts it over their head and busts into somebody's home. Sixty Minutes did a little piece on this just the other night but it is what we've been talking about for a long time. Who is under the ski mask? If you are wearing a ski mask how do you know who these people are? How do you even know that they are law enforcement agents? Anybody can wear a ski mask and a ski mask hides the identity especially when nobody says anything, and even if they do, how would most people be sure? A ski mask does for a person at 3:00 in the afternoon what the KGB did at 12:00 midnight and 3:00 in the morning, with a knock on the door. It is called terror! And the fact that we would allow that to happen in the United States is a disgrace to our country and a disgrace to our Constitution. I'll tell you right now when I was in the military we were trained to shoot people with ski masks on, if you'll recall. We called them terrorists, bankrobbers, you know, criminals, only in this case I guess now they are hired by the government. It is very important to understand this because we cannot be lackadaisical in understanding the threat. They have progressively, through gradualism, got everybody in this mindset that this is an acceptable situation. It is not. It cannot be allowed, and certainly not be allowed to continue.

If these people are on the up-and-up why not bring them into the light? If these people are doing something that is for the good of the nation why not bring them into the light. Why conceal their activities? Why shroud them in darkness?

Why shroud them in chaos? On the other hand, maybe we want a little chaos. Remember crisis management? Mr. Kissinger brought this up first. Crisis management is a good thing. You are hearing it in the news constantly, aren't we? Crisis management, crisis in Russia, crisis overseas, crisis in New York, we had a bombing, oh my goodness. With something like this, of course, thesis, anti-thesis, synthesis, you create the problem. You demonstrate and answer and you execute the solution. But you have created all three. We are looking at the same thing right now here.

Now UN combat forces. I am going to interject these people right here because all these people interlock and overlap. United Nations combat forces include those that are cooperating with FINCEN at this time in Montana, the elements that are in California. There were 25,000 of them identified south of Los Angeles and are probably deployed north-northeast of Los Angeles in the Sacramento Basin. The elements that were located in Texas have shifted by all indications and are probably spread out through a series of garrisons. The Ohio Valley starting in the Cincinnati area and moving north-northwest have forces deployed there. We know that these elements are also located at Ft. Huachuca, Arizona; there are some at Ft. Benning, Georgia. We know that an element was also located at Ft. Drum, New York.

By the way, our processing center for detainees in the western half of the United States is Oklahoma City. We do not know what the location is for the Eastern Seaboard at this time, however, by all indications Ft. Drum will be the control point for processing individuals to detention facilities on the eastern half of the United States, east of the Mississippi. If there are any problems, what I would recommend for a lot of people that are concerned about this is that we observe the air, not the ground.

What I would like to get into next are the activities and future proposed actions inside the United States by a variety of organizations including the MJTF police, FINCEN, and UN battle groups that will be deployed against the American people. First of all we'll go back to early 1989 when originally in smoke filled rooms, behind closed doors, some committee of political monkeys decided that it was time to go after the weapons inside the United States. In doing so, what they did is decide to come up with a program called guns/drugs drugs/guns. If you have a gun you must be a drug dealer. This is everybody, private arms owners, skeet shooters, whoever. Our response as law abiding American citizens was supposed to be, "Oh, take my guns, I'm not a drug dealer, oh please". Unfortunately, what happened as far as the government is concerned is that the American people started to rearm themselves very quickly.

We surveyed a lot of different shows throughout the United States, Midwest, specifically, in fact in some cases we covered three different cities and two different states within a 10 hour period. What we saw weren't people trying to get rid of their weapons, in fact, that wasn't the case at all. You'd notice that people weren't selling anything and were buying more. It was shoulder to shoulder, elbow to elbow, rear end to front, and heel to toe and everybody was bringing everybody's uncle in to buy weapons, munitions equipment and we saw this from Kentucky and Tennessee to Pennsylvania, to New Jersey to Michigan, Indiana, Illinois. The effect that their guns/drugs/drugs/guns program had is that the patriots out there started to talk to people and said, "see this is what we told you was going to happen". And after surveying a few shows, I'm sure that the intelligence information coming back to the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms people and also from other agencies that were monitoring the gun shows was that the result was not exactly what they wanted either.

More ammunition and weapons passed through the FFL dealers and through firearms sellers at gun shows in the three months of 1990 than within the last fifteen years prior to that at all sales combined. In some cases, over a million rounds of ammunition were sold off of ammunition dealers' tables, thousands of conventional firearms, virtually hundreds of thousands if not millions of dollars worth of equipment such as field gear, boots, uniforms, medical support items. These were all going out and disappearing.

Now it used to be when Fred Shmidlap and Jim and myself would go over to a gun show, we'd go in and, "well lets go buy something". We'd go buy it and take it home and fire it up a little bit. We thought it was neat but it was that vogue toy for the month. We got done with it, we might take it back in and sell it and go buy something else. It was a used firearms market. Today there is no used firearms market. There is a reason for that. Everything that is in the hands of the people is being absorbed. This is happening right now again. It is as if somebody cut an artery and the weapons are just gushing out. In fact, the people cannot keep up with demand enough. Now because of this they are getting a tad concerned again. The effect of the guns/drugs/drugs/guns campaign should have been for people to just hand things over to try to dispose of the weapons because they were fearful of being prosecuted by the government.

When in 1990 it was realized that they weren't exactly accomplishing their original mission they had to change their time table a little, we think. By the third month it was realized that the militia forces civilian arms were burgeoning at a massive proportion. The structured forces inside that were deployed included operation "Achilles", which we mentioned before. They began to reduce their actions because of notoriety and the fact that they were seeing more aggressive stances on the part of the civilian population that they were attacking. Unfortunately, like cockroaches, you can spray and they keep coming back. So by late 1992 the latest guns/drugs/drugs/guns campaign escalated with a variety of other actions overlapping. It's a threat to your children. (Well, not if you train your children properly.) It's a threat to society. Well, this society isn't monarchical England, it isn't Pharaonic Egypt, and we most certainly aren't the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. Because of that we trust our people with firearms; in fact, we are the government, therefore we are the ones who decide who should have firearms. I think everybody forgets that we, the people have an obligation and responsibility.

Now during this time from late 1992 to the early part of 1993 we have seen a series of other actions take place in which firearms confiscations house-to-house, door-to-door have taken place. Operation "Clean-Sweep" in Chicago, Operation "Achilles 2" in Cleveland, and a series of actions that took place after the Los Angeles riots, not against the street gangs but against the citizens who defended their homes and their businesses. Remember the Koreans who were on top of their roofs. Strangely enough the government used the video tapes that were made to track down these home owners and they are now being prosecuted for using their weapons to defend themselves. And this is an ongoing program. You are not seeing this in the general media because it wouldn't exactly hold well with the rest of us. Because of this it is realized that they are going to have to intensify, in fact, have intensified their campaign.

During the earlier phases, for instance in Chicago, the black helicopter missions that we were talking about in the earlier hours were taking place extensively. We have individuals who were in high-rises who were actually above helicopters flying between the high-rises in Chicago, in the windy city. These operations culminated in a final activity which lasted approximately one week in which they cordoned off neighborhoods, went building to building and house to house, entered forcibly if necessary, and prosecuted the owners of any firearms, ammunition, or gun parts found. This was operation "Clean Sweep".

In Cleveland an activity which was covered only by National Public Radio involved elements of the MJTF police and probable FINCEN forces. The Ohio Guard was mobilized from several different areas of the state, transferred to an area outside the Cleveland airport where a moulting area, an urban warfare training area was set up with three neighborhoods. The units that were brought in were trained in house to house search and seizure and securing a neighborhood. They then went into the first training neighborhood, went house to house, secured the neighborhood and then attacked the second neighborhood. Once they had secured the second neighborhood they had to hold the first two and went to get a third neighborhood. After these elements were trained and passed through this mechanism, they were transferred to different parts of Cleveland where they were actually deployed against the population.

This happened about the same time that the Weaver incident took place in Idaho. It was almost simultaneously. In fact a series of actions both in Cleveland and one here in Michigan took place either during or shortly after the Weaver incident. Now in Cleveland this received media coverage. In some part of Ohio this received media coverage but it received no national media attention except for one place, National Public Radio, who thought that this was the next best thing to sliced white bread, that they had violated people's homes, that they had gone into different parts of the city and that they had done this. Now interestingly enough we were challenged on this but in the last three weeks, when the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms forces came into Detroit to search house-to-house in specific neighborhoods, it should be noted that National Public Radio on the 11th of March broadcasted another one hour program in which they specifically mentioned that if we can do it in Cleveland, why can't we do it in Michigan. Now I had to ask people when they heard this broadcast what were they talking about, what happened in Cleveland? We knew but nobody else did. The enemy only refers to their victories very quietly after they know that they have secured the action and they have been successful, otherwise, no comment made.

The Waco situation which is typical of a lot of what we are going to be seeing in the future, although, I think you are going to see more ham-handedness, involved a 100 to 130-man assault company of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, probably under MJTF authority again. It should be understood that as of March 1989, the ATF, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms forces were divided up into these assault companies. Each platoon consists of 40 men armored with the M16-A2 rifle, the AR15-9 millimeter conversion, or the M79 grenade launcher. It is now known that these forces also include the M60 machine gun, which is an infantry battle weapon now being deployed with policing agencies, you know, like they have in Russia. It was interesting to note that this assault company in Texas was identical to the type of forces that were used during Operation "Achilles" in the Ohio Valley coming up into Michigan. The forces are in all black BDU uniform. They wear the black pasgan armor with the black pasgan helmet which looks quite a bit like the German colscuttle. They are armed, equipped and maintained through DOD resources. So, many of the weapons that they are provided with are actually provided by our military. In many cases, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the FBI, DEA are now receiving training by Quantico Marines and many of them have gone through the US Army Ranger School. That is rather exotic training for people who are supposed to be police officers in the United States. On the other hand if you again need thugs, you've got to send them some place where they can learn to be fairly efficient thugs. Many of the people that we've had that went through Ranger School in the last one year said that up to 50% of their company were made up of Federal Bureau of Investigation people and individuals who were involved with Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms or Drug Enforcement Agency. Now, DEA, by the way, has what we call CLET units. CLET units are directly under the control of the Treasury and/or can be accessed by the MJTF police or FINCEN. CLET units are armed identically to the ATF combat elements and are deployed throughout the United States and can be used overseas. DEA is now using extensive resources from outside the United States in terms of manpower but they will not identify what the name of the organization is that's being used. Now remember, we know what FINCEN is but nobody else is supposed to, so it can be assumed that FINCEN is the element that is involved.

How are they deploying equipment here? Well, its kind of strange. A lot of people say, where are they? Well, they are in all parts of the United States but we've had at least one face to face confrontation with some of their people right here in Michigan.

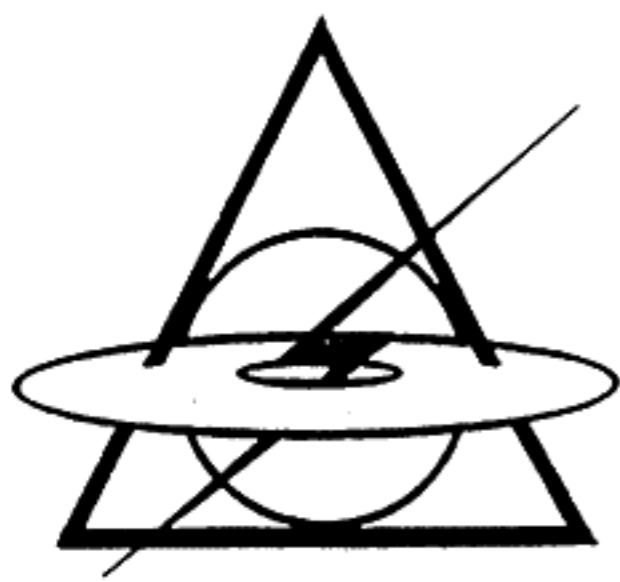

In fact, though I can't mention names, on a given date one of our people was attempting to use a space-available flight through US Army Tactical Lift Command. Upon arriving at the site they gave him his military ID card. Somebody punched in his name, looked at him very briefly and went and punched it in again. In a minute and a half there were two MPs behind him. Now this site is Selfridge Air National Guard. The individual was then taken and put in a car, driven around to the southwest quadrant of the Post. When he arrived there, the MPs took him out of the vehicle and as he entered the structure the first person at the table, at the entrance desk was in all-black uniform with no identifiable insignia or markings at all. He was then taken to an interrogation room. Now at first he's going, "oh my goodness, what did I do?"

"My ID card must be messed up or something." Upon seeing the black uniforms he understood exactly who he was dealing with. He was sat down. The first thing he was asked was how many cars do you own? How much food do you have? How many weapons do you own? What are the names of your children? What does 762 x 39 millimeter mean? He really didn't know. Well, he really did but he thinks in inch not in metric. Then there was a little conference and they left the room. Well, they left the room and they left a file sitting on the table. Anybody that is involved with military knows that you don't do that. Your career rests on security but it should be understood that in this file—he dragged it across the table, opens it up very quickly and there is a big rap sheet about 2 1/2 ft. by 1 1/2 ft. tall. On this sheet was a spiderweb of names of people to be arrested. My name was at the top for the State of Michigan; so I can be proud I'm #1 in trying, I don't have to try harder. Number 2 was another individual that was with us. Number 7 was the individual who was being questioned. All of the other lists had virtually dozens and dozens of names. It should be understood that it was meant for him to see this and it was a direct threat to anybody else who is prying into the affairs of these little goosesteppers. The gentleman made a little rattling noise at the door and came back in, sat down, and basically told him, we have nothing to hold you on. We are going to let you go. Walking back out two MPs appeared, picked him up, walked him back over to the vehicle, drove him around to his vehicle and he left the Post.

Now anybody that understands military documentation will understand that if you have a classified records jacket, you take a classified record sheet and put it on top, first of all. (That's if you just have it laying around on your desk.) The next thing you don't do is take a classified document and leave it where somebody you really don't want to see it can see it. This was meant as a direct threat. This was just before we were involved with other meetings that we've participated in that we were illuminating people to this subject. If I keep this up, they are going to do something to me. Well, I'll tell you what, I'm not stupid. If I'm already on the list as many other people are, look at it this way, you are never going to come off that list. Ok. Your butt's in the fire and you might as well fight and go for broke cause you ain't got no place left to run. It's that simple. [To be continued.]

America In Peril

Part II

Editor's note: In case you just tuned-in, what follows is the second and final part in the series called America In Peril. Part I appears in the January 4 (Vol. 4, #2) edition of CONTACT. This is a transcription taken from a video tape. Last week we presented information for ordering this video tape which, we later found out, was in error.

The copyright to this material is owned by Dr. Robert O'Driscoll. Prof. O'Driscoll has printed this same transcription as part of an excellent 1993 book titled, THE NEW WORLD ORDER IN NORTH AMERICA, which is available by sending $19.95 (shipping included) to: Prof. O'Driscoll, St. Michael's College, University of Toronto, 81 St. Mary Street, Toronto, Canada M5S 1J4; phone: 519-848-2478, or FAX: 519-848-5419. CONTACT would like to express our warmest gratitude to Dr. O'Driscoll for giving us permission to share this timely information with you.

Professor O'Driscoll's other excellent book (also 1993) that would be of particular interest to CONTACT readers is called THE NEW WORLD ORDER & THE THRONE OF THE ANTICHRIST. This is available for $20, same address, etc. as above.

When reading this final portion, discerning readers, please keep in mind that CONTACT does not advocate violence—period. The pen IS mightier than the sword. And with that in mind, let this Sword of Truth cut through the circus of disinformation which constantly parades across our TV screens and newspapers of America.

Now when I worked for Intelligence I worked as an Intel Analyst with a TSSBI clearance. Handled a lot of classified documents. People don't operate like that unless they are sending you a message. Now the last time I had this happen, I will bring this up to date as far as activities go. The last time I had this happen was a very interesting experience because we started to look into the MJTF Police and FINCEN, etc., and on a Friday afternoon at 3:00 I had a knock at the door where I work in my office. I opened the door and here is campus security and who should be with them but the area director of the FBI and one of his henchman and, of course, they wanted to talk to me. Well, let me tell you something when the police come to visit you at 3:00 in the afternoon on Friday you had better understand they plan on keeping you for the whole weekend if they can. We sat down and we discussed, well, he started to ask questions and the first thing he said was "you've been talking with your Representative and your Senator". "Yes, I have." "Well, that's interesting. Well, you know, if necessary, we will find somebody to put you at the scene of a crime." They said this flat out. "That's interesting, ah hah, ok." So I didn't really respond effectively, other than, "Oh well, no crime has been committed. All we are talking about here is truth." Then he started asking a lot of other questions like how do you feel about assault weapons? I said, "Well, well, basically I've been telling everybody to buy everything they can get their hands on and I own as many as I possibly can, why?" And of course it was like, "uhmmm, what do we say to that?" So they weren't really sure how to respond to this. I mean, I was being very open with them for the most part. When they were done they didn't take me away. Only because I didn't think, they weren't sure exactly how to figure what we...we did know that they were coming in advance, I will say that. I had a little warning and it's not the first time but we've had three different attempts where they have tried to stop us from doing just this, informing people, because like bugs, they hate for you to move that stone.

Now I put a little piece up here: "On the plains of hesitation lie the blackened bones of countless millions who at the dawn of victory sat down to rest and resting, died." While most assuredly they are close, we are just as close and they know it. They are scared snotless of the possibility of the American people waking up. Any possibility, anybody trying to bring forth what we are talking about puts such a wrench in their plans that they can't afford to see this exist. They will do everything in their power if need be probably eliminate people but I think that's down the road. Right now, they are rather concerned we are rather public but they will do everything in their power to squash this movement in its infancy. They know they cannot afford to see this continue. We must not hesitate. "On the plains of hesitation lie the blackened bones..." We must forge an organization now at the lowest possible level called the American citizen. We must get together as a people and build. If you do not build now you will not have the capacity later to protect your family, your livelihood, your people. Its that simple.

Now, activities. Example, choppers that we have been seeing all over the State. Many people have seen them. There were a number of sightings over the weekend and many of our allies, friends that we know that are in the northern part of the state have seen virtual waves of helicopters, not five or six. At least four nights in a row we have seen anywhere from 34 to 50 helicopters in waves going from horizon to horizon, not in column. In one particular evening alone with four people standing back to back there were so many aircraft that the four could not count them all. Where are they coming from? Well, they are bringing a lot of assets from overseas most assuredly but part of it is being pre-deployed in Canada. There is a thing called mundialization which I have talked about before with people. It's mentioned in several different books, one of the most recent about George Bush, the establishment's man. Mundialization, it's the conversion of a city from being an American or a Canadian city to an International city under authority of the United Nations. In doing so the city pays a tribute to Caesar, (oh, I'm sorry, the United Nations) and are under the protectorate of the United Nations. In doing this while they most assuredly denounce their citizenship to their nation, they [the UN] still get taxes from that nation and the city and the state make a point of still sending them those taxes which I think is rather strange. Originally, we wouldn't have put a connection to this for it was after the fact that we had had intelligence information that foreign aircraft were flying out of London, Ontario or near London, Ontario. Well, I opened the book and I started to look at this and it says Dundace. Dundace was mundialized. Dundace was one of the first cities Mundialized in Canada. Dundace is a suburb adjacent to London, Ontario. They were using the air facility at London in Dundace to transfer resources and equipment into the United States from outside the United States. This is very important because they have full authority as a UN affiliate.

Now, because of the amount of attention that was given to the activity in the London area they transferred their operations to a place called Mitchell Bay. I like this, we have a state map everywhere we go. Michigan, Mt. Clemens is located here. What we are looking at right now is Mitchell Bay, located right across Lake St. Claire on the opposite side of the lake in Canada. A facility was set up with POL points for patrolling support, manning support and what the foreign forces are now doing is jumping from Mitchell Bay into the United States and then flying their missions here and then going back. They fly through Mt. Clemens airspace near Selfridge Air National Guard Base and are not challenged. All that the traffic controller can do is count the number of aircraft and then they are allowed to fly anywhere inside Michigan airspace or Ohio airspace. They branch out from there. Now a lot of activity has taken place in the "Thumb" area and some of our people who checked out the area who live in the area, Le Pere and north actually communicated with people in different parts of the state or in different parts of that area of the state and they actually said, "Oh yes we've seen a lot of these helicopters and we've had a lot of crashes here." Has anybody seen anything in the media about crashes in the Thumb? They refuse to even talk about it and we have queried the state and they will not respond and yet they advise us that there were at least 5 specific air crashes. Five, count them. A helicopter is not a small thing to have land in your back yard, especially if it's in your pool or something.

All of this overlaps into, what will they use the helicopters for again? Well, the choppers for control and command support can also be used as we were discussing before, tracking and tracing. Tracking and tracing is very difficult unless you have something to track and trace with. If you are in your car it could be, as we have discussed, the electronic ignition system with a transponder. For most of you who have been watching the media though, what about the chip? Now, Bo Gritz talked about it and even our veterinarians in Oakland County are now talking about it. In Oakland the Humane Society has switched over from dog tags to a microchip which is inserted into your little puppy, or in your little kitty or in your dog when he is licensed and that dog can be traced anywhere. You can find him no matter where he is. Not only can you find him but it has a transponder number in it. Now I challenged people on this before. I know people who think that their animals are more important than people so if you can have it done to Fido, or if you can have it done to my Fluffy, why can't we do it to your child? It's that simple. Now with this in mind, the microchip which originally they were proposing with some of the different legislation and literature that we have seen, would be inserted underneath the skin of the hand. It could also be put in the forehead. We know the Biblical reference to this don't we, people? We also know that with the chip comes total submission. I will remind everybody about a little piece of Revelation that everybody should read: 13, receiving the mark is as a divorce from Christ. You would be better going out and executing a few hundred people. You might be forgiven for that. But receiving the mark is a divorce from Christ. There is no forgiveness. There is no way to get out of it. You might as well eat, drink, and be merry because you are finished.

Now in California they have already proposed this for the animals and it is already in motion. That's where Oakland County got the idea. There have already been a few comments about using this, for instance for welfare mothers now, and for many other people who are already under the gun, already under the fist. All the different fingers, it's like a hand, are closing and coming together. Well they have got the nice velvet glove on them, by the way. So it's very desirable, very fashionable, and probably quite chic. But in reality with all these fingers closing, fewer and fewer people will slip between those fingers. And as it finally clinches tight there will be no escape if you are not prepared in advance. You must be prepared in all aspects.

Now one thing that was mentioned with this thing is CNN had a piece on about Canada where they have already proposed this for all of the exotic animals. It is a must. It is not an option. It is mandatory. There are a lot of people who pay a lot of money for animals. A lot of people, as I said before, think the animals are more important than kids. And since you did it to my Fluffy, I'm going to do it to your child. In fact, it's proposed that it be done from cradle to grave. As soon as that child is born. We've got him on the table there. Mommy can't do much about it and away we go and the kid is grabbed right there!

Now, I will say this, this is something that was challenged before by people. If it is forced upon you, if it is ultimately forced upon you, it is not the same and it can be done away with. It can be gotten rid of also. But to willingly, knowingly accept this action is the worst possible thing that you could do as a Christian. I can't... well, there are probably one or two others but I would have to see the laundry list. I can't think of any worse than going over to the other side and sticking with them. There are no deals to be made. There are no options here.

Now, what value will this have? Well, let's give you an example. In the America of the future, 1994, or is it 1984, I keep forgetting. The books are so much the same. In 1994-1995 what you are going to see is a variation on this little image here we are putting on the screen. This is not something made by an author such as, say, a conspiracy theorist or somebody who picked the map up and drew some new lines in. This document was in the Detroit Free Press this last fall. It depicts the proposed borderlines for America. I am going to ask you something, once you take a close look at this. You will notice they gave it some warm fuzzy names and they made it seem real fluffy and oh, "we will just change the borders a little bit," but this is very important when you consider control of population groups. I might remind you of something about this article if you read it. If you didn't I'll point it out. Originally, this document was done by a State Department official. This was designed to test the water to make everybody see how they would feel about this warm fuzzy attitude about throwing the country away. This is only an intermediate guideline. Once this is finished the next step is to go to the finalized version which is in the United Nations Charter which cuts the United States into four pieces. We lose all of our external territories and we become a totally subservient nation to the United Nations. Very important to understand. This is the first step. Remember that old term, divide and conquer?

Now, I want to make note if you put the regional map up here you will understand where you saw these lines before. When we have tried to demonstrate to people in the past that this is where they are going, somebody said, "well I've never seen anything like that." Almost as quickly as we discussed this with people, this article that was in the Free Press showed up. It's probably the best single example and it's an example of many of the damning pieces of evidence that the enemy will put forward in their attempt to legitimize themselves. It's very important that they do that.

Now the chip of course allows you to control people for movement. Movement is a very dangerous thing when you are free. Boy, you can't really keep track of what people are doing. You can't tax them out of their socks. You're not going to be able to tax them in their food and their drink, tax them in their livelihood. We will paraphrase one of the founding fathers on that—remember, taxation? We went to war for 10%. What we are at now is a lot more than 10%. But in addition to that, movement...I'm from Area 5. I've got a chip rated for Area 5 bluecoat. What am I doing in Area 10? In fact, your internal paper doesn't show that you should even be here. I might mention too, that there is a reason that you shouldn't be here. You are a property of the state. The Governors' Conference of 1989 and the Governors' Conference of 1990 which we do have on video tape, by the way, if perchance we should someday be incorporating this in one of our talks. They specifically stated at the Governors' Conference all 50 members who were there and Representatives of the Districts said that we are nothing more than chattel. We are the property and an asset of the State. Property and asset shouldn't be allowed to just wander off. After all, you might want to sell them to somebody. Oh, that's slavery again. No, we're not supposed to think that way. It's that New World Order kind of stuff. By the way, that's the salute. I hope you have seen it. It was on CNN at least twice, the United Nations salute. Its true. They had to come up with a compromise. With the chip and control of movement we've got to get you on your feet. We can't have you driving your cars. We've got a lot of environmental problems so we can drive you out of your seats real quick with that. In addition to that, to control freedom of movement we've got to take care of this money problem. I mean, you people just spend it on the craziest kind of things, firearms, and ammunition and, why, stuff you'll just use on us (if we're the government of course). Because of that, we have to bring another finger in. Money. And to control the money we have to change it.

In the first phase if anybody has a sampling of it in their wallet, (and they probably do); any of your 1990 series currency, if you'll hold it up to the light, face the currency like this, turn it up on end, look under the numbers with the light you'll see a bar line inside the paper. This is a platinum polyester microscreen bar coded element. As we were talking about traceability with your car and with your person, this currency was being tested and is being tested now for traceability on your person, in your home, in your business, everywhere. This is what we started to call the intermediate currency because this is not the final currency. The final currency is called the bluechip dollar. The bluechip dollar is virtually blue. The one dollar bill will be blue. All the others are of different colors. By what we understand, there is also a bar coding just above the $20.00 that is printed out here. This can be scanned two different ways. If you look around the oval of the currency you will find that there are microprintings which reprint 20 US, 20 US, 20 US. But apparently in the latest piece that we've seen this may also be screened. So there are several different ways that they can actually screen this.

With 1983 technology it was possible for them to drive by your home and from the road screen your house and identify by the dollar amount how much cash you have in your house. This is 1983 technology. The year is 1993. If our computers have expanded geometrically in capacity I want to ask you another question? What do you think they have done with the technology concerning this? Where are they now? See what I mean. By the way, PO 100-690 covers this and if you get a chance what you need to do is call your Senator or your Congressman. Request a copy of PO 100-690. It is a book 3/4" thick, 7 x 10 format. In it you will find all of this and originally people said, "Well I read the law. They can only do $100s and $50s." I said, "Bull-do-do".

The way the law was written, at the discretion of the Treasurer they have the capacity to do it on all currency and they will because there were Senate hearings concerning this. C-Span covered this and during those hearings they stated uncategorically all of the currency will be traceable. No currency will be hidden by the time they are done and this is intermediate. This currency will be devalued down the road. The exchange ratio will probably be six to one. At a six to one ratio your debts don't change but your money does, so let me ask you this, can you pay for food, heating, and your house at the same time? Like the great depression or Germany with its hyperinflation, you get to choose between heating and eating. Which are you going to do if you have four kids? Uh-hmmm. Now it becomes a challenge. On the other hand if you buy tangible products with this worthless piece of paper developed by the Federal Reserve (not by us. Remember this is just a Federal Reserve note. This isn't really money), use this to the greatest possible level that you can taking advantage of volume purchasing by getting together with those friends that you organized in the militia, you put away munitions, food and equipment with this before it becomes valueless.

During the transition phase you should have coin instead of paper. Why? During the devaluation, in fact during this devaluation, in PO 100-690 makes no allowance for the coin change. Coin will still have a face to face value. In Israel in 1973 when they changed the currency people who had coin ate the next week. People who had paper were sucking air. It should be understood that you want to put a percentage of coin in quarters, dimes, even nickels if necessary, whatever you can afford. Half dollars and full dollars are the best way to go.

Now, it should be interesting to note, for those of you that are trying to financially protect yourself. Does anybody know about the confiscation laws? Well we are going to get into them now. The other finger is starting to close. This one. With the existing confiscation laws and with the banking laws in PO 100-690, any instrument, cash, money order, or cashier's checks for any unnegotiable instrument that can be transferred into a bank or used by a bank is to be kept track of by the bank against you. And it's at the discretion of the teller and the bank as to and whether or not they consider it criminal activity. Now a limit at this time is $10,000. It may have changed. It could be lower. Under the original law they have the authority to go down to every $150 transaction. At their discretion they inform an agency of the government and that agency can then impound and confiscate your money. If they do this or if they decide you have done something that we call structuring, in other words, I decide I don't have $10,000 at the time that I spent, Ok. So over a 12 month period I do $2000 here, $3000, $2000 again and I'll spend another $4000 in negotiable funds and put it in and use it in another way. If I do that it's interpreted as structuring and at their discretion what we call arbitrary enforcement. Anybody in law enforcement understands what this means under civil law. Under common law you cannot have arbitrary enforcement. Under civil law you can. But under civil law and with arbitrary enforcement they can take this property from you and they don't have to give it back because you have to prove that you are not guilty. You know what that is? That's British law, kids. That's where you have to prove your innocence. That is not the U.S. Constitution. That is not our Bill of Rights. Guilty until proven innocent are those little dictator things again. What we have to watch out for, you have to be very very careful. I would not use, (not that I would ever break the law), but I wouldn't be using very many of these bills and I wouldn't keep very many of these bills. I would get rid of them as quickly as I can.

When they change during the transition period you will have about six weeks to turn this money in for the new currency.

In that six weeks period for the first time in American history, the old currency will be worthless. That's the policy of Banana Republics not a Constitutional Republic that is sound using sound currency. It is interesting to note that this is a Federal Reserve Note not a U.S. dollar, not a gold dollar or a silver dollar or silver currency.

How will they use this against us? Eventually, once they get to the new currency then we get that mark thing incorporated. I don't know if anybody has been watching our new socialized medicine program, I mean, restructured medical program, but under this new restructured medical program that we are going to have it's important that they are already talking about using your social security number to determine whether or not you get service, tying all of them together and bringing them all into one number. Very important to understand.

How do they all bond together? What do we do? First of all protect yourself—food! You know there is one funny thing about food in a can. I haven't seen anybody killed with a frozen bag of peas yet, have you? And yet, under new Federal Guidelines and Federal Statutes and under state law it is a felony to store more than six months food supply in your home. Under new Federal Guidelines and new Federal Laws it is called the hoarding law. It's appeal 102 series law (I don't have the number here with me. I'm sorry.) But it is a 102 series law which makes it a felony to hoard food. It might be noted also, though, there is no definition of hoarding. Are 3 days worth of food hoarding? Is a week? Is a month? 10 months? 8 months? Talk to me. I don't have any definition here. That's where this whole thing about arbitrary enforcement comes in. Remember, you can be punished for having food now. Food, some silver. Silver may not be as important as tangible items but silver is good to have. You and I can understand it. Gold is a little harder because such a small amount of gold is worth so much. But tangible assets such as silver we can understand, we can hold. Weapons, and I argue this again, and again, and again. You cannot share weapons. Buy in steel, implements that will last and can be handed down generation to generation, father to son, son to grandson. I own weapons that were made in 1891 and are as accurate and as capable as they were when they were made. That is over 100 years old. It is a matter of how they are maintained. Valuable are the manufactured items that we will not be able to purchase in the future. Bring all of these things together. Create a defense for your family, for yourselves, and for your friends. Resources of all types concerning tools. Anybody who is a man that has worked with his hands will know what a good tool is worth. The value of that tool can be passed down from generation to generation and they hate that. It gets all over their bullets and everything. What are they going to do? If we do not accept the mark we are going to have to take care of ourselves. They hate that thought of independence. They are terrorized by the thought that we as free people will stand up and we are going to have to do that. We are going to have to take care of manufacturing for ourselves. We are going to have to take care of food production for ourselves. We are going to have to take care of ammunition, weapons requirements, reloading.

If you are not into reloading yet get into reloading now. Down the road here ammunition is going to be few and far between. Handgun Control Inc. has said two and three years ago, I have Sarah Brady on tape right here in Michigan. She said two things that everybody should remember. #1 "When we want to get your weapons, we are going to get your ammunition first." The next thing she said, "First we are going to get these weapons, but of course, our ultimate goal is to get everything." And what are they proposing now? By the way, I don't know if you have read Bill Clinton and Al Gore's latest book, but if you haven't you should. In four different chapters (I read this all last night, trust me. It was written to a sixth grade level unfortunately), and it was done in big block print which I'm amazed considering our people are supposed to be better educated than they were 100 years ago. What's fascinating is their solution to every problem at the end of every chapter, I'll give you an example. Children. Their solution the last two paragraphs is to pass the Brady Bill and to ban all assault weapons because they have no legitimate hunting purpose. Crime in America. What do you guess the last two paragraphs are? The exact same two I saw in the chapter before. Now don't you think this is strange that they feel I'm so stupid that they have to repeat it to me twice. Well, that wouldn't be so bad but it's in four different chapters in the book and virtually printed identically, one chapter after another. When you are trying to drive something to people's brain or brainwash them you repeat something over and over and over again and you convince them that this is the way something should be and you make them mimic what you have said. You don't want free thinking, freewill people. That's simple.

Your enemy is using tools he has always used before. Data, information, technical information. One thing that has happened I have seen this happen time and time again. You must have written knowledge where people can access it. You as a mentor, you have to become an educator for a student. Teach them what to do and how to do it. To do that you have got to have the technical data on hand. If you have a group of 10 people you must have 10 copies of that knowledge. Reloading, combat skills, farming, I don't care. Whatever subject it is disperse your knowledge. The printed word is going to be banned. Mark my word on this. I guarantee it. It has already happened with certain books concerning how to take care of and maintain firearms. You will see it again.

What can we do now? What are we supposed to do now? The thrust has to be deep into the vitals of the enemy. In order to do what we need to do at our end as citizens one of the things I can recommend is to throw up stumbling blocks for the enemy. We've proposed and we hope that it is in motion now and we believe it is, that at the state level we get in involved with trying to reintroduce, for instance, our state borders into the Constitution. Our State borders aren't formulated. They are not in the Constitution now. Why?

Because these people have planned to restructure the government. To do that they have to change the State. This is simple. We are going to find out who our enemies are real quick. How? The people who vote for this are citizens, are Americans. The people who don't vote for this obviously have another agenda and we need to know who those people are. Can we win? Absolutely. Will we win? It will be a long drawn out, rotten, nasty affair I would prefer not to see at all. But if we have a choice between freedom and slavery, I would rather gladly die standing on my feet with a weapon in my hand than to die in a ditch on my knees begging that somebody won't put a bullet in the back of my head. I do not plan on giving that legacy and leaving that to my children and none of you should accept that either. Together we must travel into the future with all of our people intact, with all of our freedoms intact. Without our Constitution, without our Bill of Rights, we are in a pretty sorry position as far as what we are going to hand down to the next generation. God bless the United States. Death to the New World Order. The Republic shall prevail.

Goodbye.
