HELLO

Here you are planning one of the most important events in your life, and I am delighted that I'm being considered to be a part of this beautiful experience. Because of such, being your photographer is more than just pressing a button. I will be tasked with preserving the moments that will ensue on your wedding day, and creating a story that will be synonymous with the love you share.

I'm fuelled purely by passion for the arts, and your wedding is a canvas that will be skillfully painted on with utmost artistic dexterity. There is no greater expression than love, and I love capturing love, so let's get started! Read more about my style below.
